THERE ARE MANY THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR

As we enter the holiday season, it is time to reflect on the many things we have to be thankful for. I am especially grateful to be associated with Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative and the role it plays in supporting our local communities and providing our members with safe and reliable electric energy. The cooperative has had a productive year with zero lost-time accidents and we are expecting great things to happen in the new year.

Thanks to all of you who attended our Member Appreciation Breakfast in October. It was held on a beautiful fall day and the turnout exceeded our expectations. The smell of pancakes and sausage filled our shop as members from all across the service area entered our office. The event gave members the opportunity to dispose of unwanted confidential documents using our secure disposal service and shop with our many arts and crafts vendors. It was wonderful to visit with each of you and I look forward to seeing you in April at the annual meeting.

Our Toys for Tots campaign is in full swing. Now is the perfect time to donate a toy at one of our local toy drop locations. These toys will find their way into the hands of a deserving child in the area. Your generous donations have put smiles on the faces of thousands of children since the program began. Thank you for continuing to support our local families.

Across the nation, we are seeing fuel and natural gas prices on the rise. With temperatures falling, that means furnaces are running and we can expect to see our fuel bills increase. Be mindful of these price fluctuations as you warm your homes this winter. For any of our members who are facing financial challenges, remember there are avenues for energy assistance that may be available to you. Information on how to apply for energy assistance may be found in this month's edition of the WECN magazine.

lights for frayed cords and loose connections, and always turn off holiday lights when you leave the house or go to bed. Test your smoke alarms and clean or replace your furnace filter as needed. The holidays are about family and friends and we all enjoy a little time off from work. But above all, remember to be responsible and play it safe.

Energy Efficiency Tip of the Month

Heading out of town for the holiday season?

Remember to unplug electronics that draw a phantom energy load. Some gadgets like TVs, phone chargers, gaming consoles, and toothbrush chargers use energy when plugged into an outlet—even when they're not in use.

HOLIDAY DÉCOR TIPS FOR AN ENERGY-WISE HOME

Whether you've already decked your halls or you're just getting started, there's still time to incorporate energy savings into your holiday décor planning.

If you haven't strung your twinkle lights yet, be sure to use LED light strands. LEDs consume far less energy than incandescent lights and they can last 40 holiday seasons. They're also safer because they're made with epoxy lenses, not glass, making them more resistant to breaking—and they're cool to the touch, so no burnt fingers.

If you missed Santa's memo about energy-saving LEDs and your holiday lights are already up, you can still save on lighting costs. All you need is a programmable light timer. Most models cost between $10 to $25 and can be purchased through online retailers like Amazon or at big box stores like Lowe's or Wal-Mart. With a light timer, you can easily program when you want your holiday lights turned on and off, which will save you time, money, and energy. If you're using a timer for exterior lighting, make sure it's weatherproof and intended for outdoor use.

For a more natural look, consider making a simple wreath or garland for the exterior of your home. You can use solar-powered spotlights to illuminate the greenery at night.

If Clark Griswold's décor style is a bit much for your taste, consider a more natural approach. Many Christmas tree farms, and even retailers like Lowe's and Home Depot, give away greenery clippings from recently trimmed trees. With a little twine, extra ornaments and sparkly ribbon, you can create beautiful garlands and wreaths to hang over your front door or windows. To add extra twinkle at night, you can install solar-powered spotlights to illuminate your new (essentially free) greenery. Solar spotlights can vary in price, but you should be able to purchase a quality set of four for about $30—and because they run on natural energy from the sun, there's no additional cost to your energy bill.

Regardless of how you decorate your home for the holidays, there are plenty of ways to save energy throughout the season.

RECYCLE YOUR BROKEN CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

When you put up your Christmas lights this year, did you find any strings of lights that didn't work? If you did, bring them to our headquarters in Rosholt to have them recycled. There is a collection box in our lobby where they can be placed.

GIVE THE GIFT OF POWER!

Don't know what to give someone for Christmas? Why not give them the gift of power? Gift certificates are available at the CWEC office or online at www.cwecoop.com.

NEED HELP PAYING YOUR ENERGY BILLS?

Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative's Commitment to Community Program is designed to help households with their energy costs, including electric bills. For many Wisconsin households, energy costs place a severe and continuing stress on the family budget. To better serve our members, CWEC is part of the Wisconsin Home Energy Plus (HE+) program.

This program is funded through public benefits and federal dollars to help eligible low-income households pay for home energy assistance and weatherization. Members may be eligible if they meet the HE+ program guidelines. Members should contact their local agency to determine eligibility.
